

borrow: to borrow sth. from smb.; borrowed time;

lend: to lend sth. to smb.; to lend a (helping) hand; to lend an ear; a lending library;
to lend itself to (This meat lends itself to cooking.) loan: to loan money to smb.; to loan jewellery / paintings to; to loan a house / a flat to Complete the following sentences with verbs 'borrow', 'lend' or 'loan' in the correct form.

1. Ask your neighbour if he will you his tractor.
2. These books aren't mine. I have them from my friends.
3. The bank money only to companies and corporate institutions.
4. I can't you my pen. I'm using it.
5. There is a library in every town in the country.
6. 'Who's my hairbrush?' 'I have. I'll give it back to you in a moment when I have finished doing my hair.'
7. The flat was to me by a friend who was staying abroad for some time.
8. We expect Ralph to a hand with the removal.
9. If I you five pounds today, when will you give it back?
10. I'm broke and there's nobody to cash from.
11. After long negotiations, the National Bank agreed to us money for the investment.
12. Mr Thornton has been living on time ever since he fell so seriously ill last year.
13. These vegetables don't themselves to cooking. They should be eaten raw.
14. Could you your lawn-mower to me for an hour? I'd like to cut the grass in my garden.
15. The collection of paintings belongs to a millionaire from Spain. He's only it to our gallery for a month.